'I killed him, but I didn't murder him'

On trial. Kevin Gregson gave a rambling account Thursday of his life before telling jurors about deadly struggle Kevin Gregson confessed in court Thursday to killing Ottawa police Const. Eric Czapanik.

"Eric Czapanik is dead and I killed him, but I didn't murder him," said Gregson at the end of his testimony. "He was a good man. The skills I have were supposed to be for good, not for this."

He said it was his extensive training as an RCMP officer that made him react instinctively, without intent to murder.

He recounted approaching Czapanik as the officer was filling out paperwork at the Ottawa Hospital Civic campus, on Dec. 29, 2009. He knocked on the car window, then opened the car door. "I told him to get on his knees and put his hands up. He did," he said.

Czapanik went for his gun and Gregson jumped on top of him, pulling at Czapanik's weapon, but was unable to get it out of the holster, Gregson said.

"And then he punched me, pow, with his left hand," Gregson said, his hands miming the motions. "My hand just grabbed my knife and it went like this: boom, boom."

Gregson said he "just reacted" to the punch and didn't intend to stab Czapanik.

The Crown is expected to cross examine Gregson today.

Taking a shot at scoring a million-dollar goal

Shootout. Four finalists will shoot to score at next week's Ottawa 67's and Sudbury Wolves game

JOE LOFARO
joe.lofaro@metronews.ca

Ottawa resident Joel Elliot has never played hockey before, but will now practise his heart out for a chance to win $1 million on March 16.

Elliot is among four finalists in the Ottawa Mortgage Brokers' Million Dollar Shootout contest that will take place during an intermission at next week's Ottawa 67's and Sudbury Wolves' game.

If he advances in the first challenge, he'll be hoping to be the only one of four to shoot the puck through a small opening in the net from the far blue line.

"I'm going to practise probably until my fingers bleed on that hockey stick," said Elliot.

He reached out to his Reddit peers for advice and

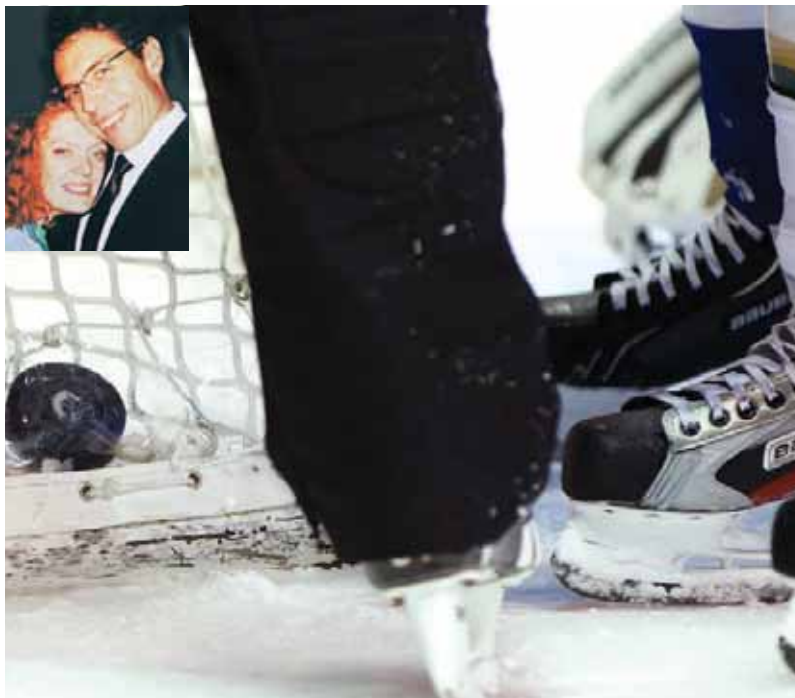

Goal tips

Although Brad Marsh — former Ottawa Senators player and upcoming Juno Cup captain — admits he isn't known as a goal scorer, he shared these three tips for all novice hockey players.

- The follow through. Always follow through and point the hockey stick at the target.
- Control. For more control, hit the puck smoothly as opposed to smashing it.
- Posture. Stand with your feet shoulder-width apart, straddling the blue line for more power and to allow your hips to rotate.

has already secured free ice time at the RA Centre to practice. "I'm just going to give it my all," said Elliot. "If I don't win, I'm also no stranger to making a fool of myself in public."

If he wins, Elliot plans to use the $1 million to pay off his mortgage and student loans.

Police seek two suspects in knife-point robbery

Police released these two surveillance photos in relation to a robbery that occurred on Feb. 25 at the Westboro transit station. CONTRIBUTED

Police are looking for two men who allegedly robbed a man at knifepoint at the Westboro transit station on Feb. 25.

Police say one of the suspects brandished a knife when they approached the victim at around 7 p.m. The victim's jacket was cut, but he was not injured, police said. The suspects then fled the scene with the victim's cellphone.

Police described the first suspect as Caucasian, approximately 20 years of age, six feet tall with a slim build, clean-shaven, "buzz cut" hair, wearing a black hooded sweatshirt, blue jacket with grey sleeves and red sneakers.

The second suspect is described as Caucasian, approximately 20 years of age, five-foot-seven, with a medium build, clean shaven, short blond hair, wearing a grey jacket, blue jeans and white hightop runners.

Anyone with information is asked contact the Ottawa police robbery unit at 613-236-1222, ext. 5116 or Crime Stoppers at 613-233-8477.

'There's always more work that can be done': Speaker

Annual event.

Raylene Lang-Dion of Equal Voice speaks at the International Women's Day breakfast

STEVE COLLINS
ottawa@metronews.ca

"International Women's Day is a great day to recognize the contributions that women in our community make and celebrate our many successes," said Coun. Diane Deans, who has hosted the annual breakfast for 16 years. "As you can see, there's a lot of wonderful women here this morning and a lot of stories that should be told."

Raylene Lang-Dion of Equal Voice, a group dedicated to electing more Canadian women, was this year's guest speaker.

"The door is open for women to run," she said.

Leadership roles

Women and politics

"There's always more work that can be done. We're very realistic in celebrating the accomplishments of women, but we also realize that we have to really keep at this. Right now we're around 25 per cent (female MPs) in our federal Parliament. Never in Canadian history have we had a situation where we have four female premiers."

"That's a sign, right? We've got more women in leadership positions. We talk to a lot of people, but in particular we encourage younger women, 'Hey, why don't you think about politics as a career as you're going up through high school?'"

Women targeted by public service cuts, MP says

Irene Mathysen, NDP MP for London-Fanshawe, speaks about equality for women at an International Women's Day protest Thursday outside Prime Minister Stephen Harper's office. JOE LOFARO/METRO

About 50 female public servants paid a visit to the Prime Minister's Office to give Stephen Harper his "pink slip."

The Public Service Alliance of Canada Ottawa regional women's committee organized the protest to voice their frustration with the federal government's public-service cuts, which they say are hurting women.

Irene Mathysen, NDP MP for London-Fanshawe, said women are being targeted since most public servants are women.

"Since 2006, women have been targets. Their first act was to undercut the department for the Status of Women," said Mathysen. "They closed 12 regional offices, which reach out and support women's organizations and women in the community."

Most of the women, and some men, were dressed in pink rags as they shouted by barricades outside Harper's office.

'Destiny'

"The message is 'take control of your destiny' and say no to an employer who is unethical."

NDP MP Irene Mathysen

Despite the closure of those 12 offices, the department announced $12 million in funding on Tuesday for eligible community organizations that address issues of violence against women and economic security affecting women and girls living in rural and remote areas across Canada.

Mathysen said Thursday's protest underscores the fact that women have not achieved equality in Canada.

New digs. Travel and Vacation Show returns

The Travel and Vacation Show takes a trip itself this year, from Lansdowne Park to its new home at the Ottawa Convention Centre.

"It's so picturesque, you want to sit there and look," organizer Halina Player said of the new venue. "You want to have a glass of wine and sit for a little while and admire the city."

There's plenty going on inside, too, with a record 200 exhibitors this year. "There's much more variety for a visitor who comes, more countries participating, more regions participating," Player said.

St. Patrick's Day isn't until next Saturday, but the Ottawa Irish Festival is already warming up.

The festivities began Thursday with a proclamation by Mayor Jim Watson and an "Irish wake" for Larry Bradley, parade marshal for last year's St. Patrick's Parade, at the Heart and Crown. Bradley is actually just fine, says Irish Society spokesman Bryan Daly, though he admits the annual joke has led to some misunderstandings.

Will Carleton Ravens make it eight at the Final 8?

Basketball. Carleton looks to continue dominant decade with record-tying eighth national championship at Final 8

MATTHEW WUEST
Metro in Halifax

One of the most dominating runs in Canadian sport could reach new heights this weekend in Halifax.

The Carleton University Ravens, no stranger to basketball fans in Halifax over the past decade, are once again the headliners at the Final 8 Canadian Interuniversity Sport men's basketball championship at the Halifax Metro Centre.

Not only are they the top-ranked team, they're chasing their eighth national title in the past 10 years, a mark that would tie the Victoria Vikes for the most in CIS history.

It's a piece of history Carleton doesn't take lightly.

"It would be pretty cool — eight national championships is something that not many people can say they were a part of," said fifth-year guard Elliot Thompson, a Fredericton, N.B., native and the lone Maritimer on Carleton's roster.

Attendance numbers

- Last year's three-day Final 8 attendance of 20,504 was the lowest on record at the Metro Centre, slipping under the previous low of 22,745 set in 1997.
- It was 25,834 in 2007 following back-to-back years of 30,000-plus.

"I think our guys do think about that. It's not our main focus, but it would be cool."

Carleton, which hosted the Final 8 from 2008 through 2010 and will get it back in 2013 and 2014, has captured six consecutive championships at the Metro Centre dating back to 2003, a run of 18 straight non-consolation wins.

The Ravens, who face the eighth-seeded Acadia Axemen in Friday's quarter-finals at 2:15 p.m., might be bringing their best team yet to Halifax. With five starters back from last year's Final 8 champion, they're undefeated in 33 games against CIS competition this season with an unheard of 38.6-point average margin of victory.

"Having all five starters back, plus some red-shirt additions challenging us in practice, it's really helped us take our game to the next level," Thompson said.

A pair of Carleton Ravens work on their shooting technique during a practice at the Metro Centre in Halifax on Thursday. RYAN TAPLIN/METRO HALIFAX

While there's no telling when the tournament will be back in Halifax, Thompson said he and his teammates love it here — just in case their success hadn't already told you that.

"It's awesome here, they do a great job," Thompson said. "Everyone's supportive and friendly and they have a great fanbase. It seems like the whole city just comes together for it."

More demonstrations

Student hurt in eye during Que. tuition protests

A student demonstrator feared losing sight in one eye Thursday, feeding an atmosphere of heightened tensions over Quebec's tuition-fee hikes.

There were more protests one day after 20-year-old protester Francis Grenier suffered a partially detached retina following the explosion of a police stun grenade during a demonstration Wednesday in downtown Montreal.

Some students taunted police by wearing eye-patches in reference to Grenier. There were also chants and a variety of hand gestures, ranging from two-fingered peace signs to one-fingered salutes.

"Police is everywhere, justice is nowhere," some chanted.

A day earlier, seven people were arrested during a pair of Montreal protests — the latest in a string of demonstrations by students who believe Quebec's rock-bottom tuition rates are a basic right. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Scandal. Bureaucrat used public funds for massages, TVs: Watchdog

A federal public servant charged massages as office supplies, put in for bogus expenses, took home flat-screen TVs paid for with office funds and used a government car as a personal vehicle, all while bullying and browbeating underlings.

These are among the findings of a damning report tabled Thursday by Public Sector Integrity Commissioner Mario Dion.

The case involves a western regional manager in Human Resources and Skills Development who is not otherwise identified.

Dion said lax policies allowed the manager to divert government equipment to a personal business, claim phoney expenses and cut sweetheart deals for family and friends, while terrorizing staff.

The manager also ignored rules about confidentiality and disclosed personal information about employees to other members of staff. As well, the manager used the passwords and access codes of employees who worked

Corruption

The manager, who had been in the job for nine years, left the government during Dion's 2010 investigation, although the report doesn't say whether the bureaucrat was fired or quit.

- The department says it has tightened its procedures to keep closer track of spending and better monitor its staff. And it has recovered the TVs and other goodies the manager took home.

in different offices to make financial entries without their knowledge or consent. "I have determined that the breadth, severity and frequency of the manager's wrongdoing constitute gross mismanagement in the public sector," Dion said in a release.

The mess was uncovered after frightened public servants complained to Dion's office in February 2010.

Aung San Suu Kyi's steely resolve

Aung San Suu Kyi used Thursday's visit of Foreign Affairs Minister John Baird to fire another round in her long fight for freedom — she warned of voter fraud threatening Myanmar's coming landmark elections.

With a steely resolve, the celebrated Nobel laureate warned that bogus voters' lists are threatening her country's tough road to democratic freedom. Baird, latest in a long line of international visitors, readily agreed.

The revelation added gravity to Baird's historic visit to Myanmar, also known as Burma, where he personally conferred honorary Canadian citizenship on Suu Kyi.

Emerging from nearly an hour of talks at her lakeside Yangon residence, a place where she has served 15 of the last 23 years under arrest, Suu Kyi disclosed the new threat to her historic campaign.

A year after disaster, Japan still struggles

Fukushima. Somehow, life goes on in the shadow of shattered nuclear reactors

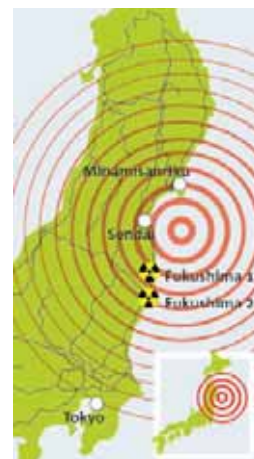

ELISABETH BRAW

Metro World News

One year ago, an earthquake struck the waters off Fukushima, a quiet city in central Japan. The 8.9 tremor caused a tsunami, which hit the city's nuclear power plant. Within minutes, three of the plant's reactors overheated and released clouds of radioactivity.

"I was at home on my farm," recalls Tatsuko Ogawara, an organic farmer who lives 40 kilometres from the reactor.

"A geiger counter we bought 26 years ago showed radiation levels 30 times higher than normal. When this happened, I wanted to evacuate to western Japan with my children. However, I respected the decision our children made and decided to remain in our home."

The effects of the earthquake, tsunami and accident reached Tokyo.

One year later, Ogawara remains at her family farm — but the Fukushima region has changed. The 20-kilometre exclusion zone around the plant is a Chernobyl-like landscape inhabited only by animals. "And a 13,000 square kilometre area is still contaminated above the international limit," says Jan Beranek, a nuclear expert at Greenpeace, who has measured the area's radioactivity.

"It will take three decades before the radioactive isotopes are broken down. Until then, the Fukushima region is a ticking time bomb. The contaminated water is especially dangerous, since it could leak and contaminate reservoirs."

For Ogawara, the radioactivity is a constant concern: "We have lost many customers due to radiation fears. And I'm very worried about the health of my children."

The Ogawaras' oldest daughter has already left Fukushima.

"Women cannot be won."
That's the message protesters were chanting at Halifax station Q104's headquarters Thursday in response to the radio station's controversial The Male is in the Czech contest. About 30 men and women gathered in protest.

"Czech your privilege," "My gender is not a currency," and "End your show" were just a few of the signs waved around.

The station's contest — dubbed on the Q website as a mail-order-bride giveaway — closed Thursday, which also happened to be International Women's Day.

Winners of the contest will fly to Prague, where they will participate in four pre-planned dates through the Flying Hearts International Dating

A Tunisian court has convicted and fined the publisher of a Tunisian newspaper for violating public morals by printing a photo of a football player's naked girlfriend.

The publisher was fined $660 and the court ordered all copies of the newspaper issue destroyed.

Critics call the case an attack on media freedom in the country that sparked uprisings across the Arab world last year.

'We did the best we could' police officer testifies

Rafferty trial.
Emotional officer describes desperate police effort to find missing 8-year-old

A huge contingent of police officers worked flat out for up to 20 hours a day over six weeks in hopes of finding eight-year-old Victoria Stafford alive, so it was a crushing blow when a young woman confessed the girl was dead, court in London, Ont., heard Thursday.

From April 8 until Terri-Lynne McClintic confessed on May 19 to her part in Tori's murder, police held out hope Tori was alive somewhere.

"The investigation went from an abduction investigation to a homicide investigation," Det. Const. Sean Kelly testified, his voice trembling with emotion.

Victoria Stafford

"It was quite significant and it had ... a pretty big impact."

Kelly choked up and had difficulty speaking, so he paused, staring at the ceiling and trying to blink away tears.

"I'm good," he said eventually. "We'll continue."

Woodstock police called in Ontario Provincial Police after about a week, and for those first several days in particular, "overwhelmed" officers worked 16 to 20 hours a day, Kelly testified.

"We did the best that we could," he said.

Kelly was the last witness to testify this week at the trial of McClintic's boyfriend Michael Rafferty, 31, who has pleaded not guilty to first-degree murder, sexual assault causing bodily harm and kidnapping in the case.

McClintic pleaded guilty in April 2010 to first-degree murder and is serving a life sentence. She is set to take the stand when Rafferty's trial resumes on Tuesday.

Raitt steps in to halt Air Canada work stoppage

Labour dispute.

Minister urges both sides to return to the bargaining table despite intervention

Federal Labour Minister Lisa Raitt stepped in Thursday to prevent a work stoppage at Air Canada that would have thrown the travel plans of thousands of families into chaos at the beginning of a holiday week.

"Our government's concerned that the work stoppages are going to have an effect both on our national economy and of course on the Canadian travelling public," the minister said.

"We all know that it's March break, especially in Quebec, in Ontario and the following week after in British Columbia. And we know this can have an effect on Canadian families, especially since this is a really peak travel season."

Raitt sent the dispute between the airline and two of its unions — the pilots and ground crew — to the Canadian Industrial Relations Board to see how a work stoppage would affect the health and safety of Canadians.

"It is still a valid question to me, especially when it comes to passengers and cargo, and that's exactly why we're going to be sending it over to the CIRB," Raitt said Thursday.

While the board reviews the case, the airline cannot lock out its employees and the unions cannot start a strike.

It is the same manoeuvre that Raitt used when it appeared as if Air Canada's flight attendants would go on strike, but the CIRB never made a decision on that matter.

Air Canada confirmed that there would be no disruption of service and its full schedule would remain unchanged.

Debt deal. Greek bond swap agreement likely

Greece government officials and world markets appeared confident that a high number of private investors would participate in a major Greek debt-reduction deal as the deadline to do so passed Thursday night.

The deal is aimed at slashing the country's national debt by $140 billion US, with private bondholders accepting a face-value loss of 53.5 per cent, in exchange for new bonds with more favourable repayment terms. Results of participation in the exchange will be announced early Friday. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Trade ties. Taiwan farmers protest U.S. beef imports

Thousands of Taiwanese farmers pelted waste and rotten eggs at a government building Thursday in protest of a plan to allow imports of U.S. beef containing a growth drug, challenging the island's president to "say no" to Washington.

Newly re-elected President Ma Ying-jeou is seeking to strengthen ties with the U.S. by resolving a long-running beef dispute that has stalled trade talks crucial to keeping up the island's competitive edge in global trade.

WOMEN'S DAY, RUSH LIMBAUGH AND AN EXPLETIVE

THE LIST
Paul Sullivan
Metro

It's that time of the week again, when we roll out our list of the most amazing things happening. No use arguing ... the decision of the judges is final.

International Women's Day: You've still got a long way to go, baby. Only 17 per cent of the corporate officers and 13 per cent of the directors in Canada's top 500 companies are women. That's because the men have done such a good job.

2 The Abyss 2: James Cameron, director of Avatar, Titanic and The Abyss, announced that he's building a special submarine to descend to the bottom of the sea. The Marianas Trench, to be precise, is the deepest point in the ocean, where the pressure is 1,000 times greater than on the surface. The difference from his last visit to the abyss: This time, if the sub starts to leak, he can't just yell "cut!"

3 iPad X: OK, so it doesn't deliver world peace. The Apple iPad released Wednesday does have a better screen, a better battery, better graphics and a better camera, and some people are still disappointed because it's not called iPad 3 or doesn't make toast. Geeks gone wild.

4 Rush Limbaugh, you ignorant slut: If the sponsors and affiliates leaping off the bandwagon are any indication, America's foremost big-mouth may have finally gone too far when he called a U.S. law student testifying before Congress a "slut" and a "prostitute," because she thinks it's a good idea for health care to pay for birth control. Sometimes the trouble with free speech is that you get what you pay for.

5 Super Tuesday: How many Republican presidential candidates does it take to screw in a light bulb? Anybody but Mitt Romney, apparently. Finding a Republican to give Barry Obama a run for his money takes even longer than the NHL playoffs. If we're lucky, Newt Gingrich and Don Cherry will both still be around in June.

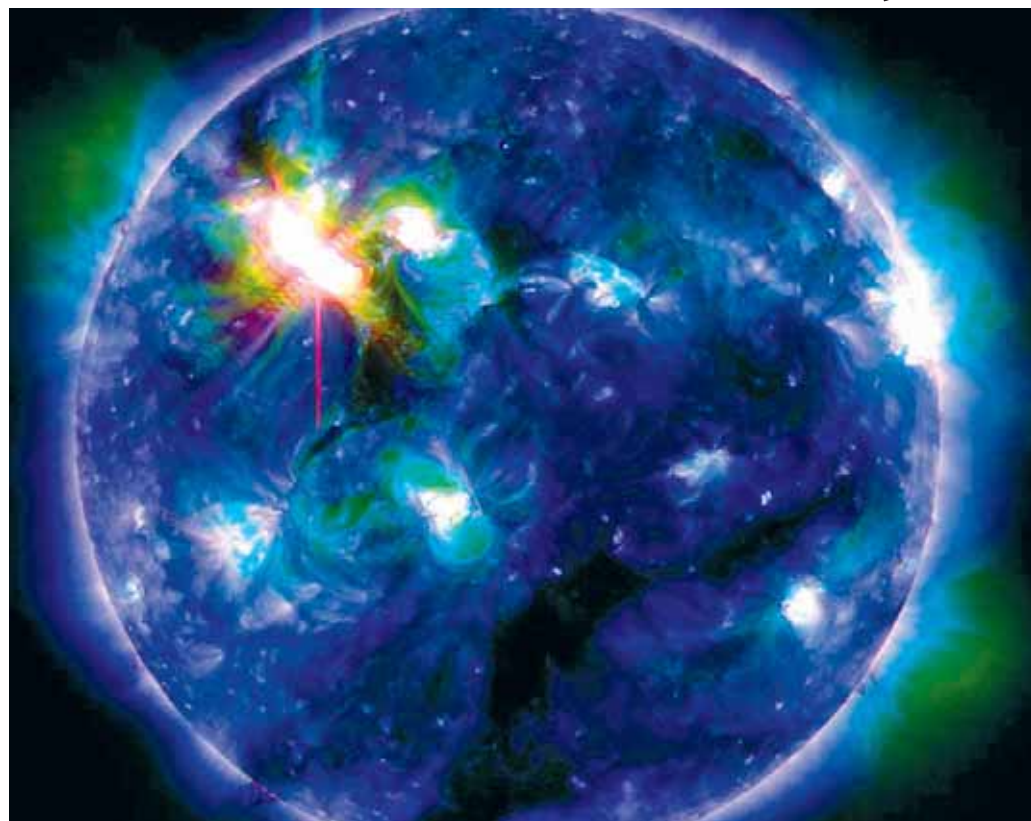

Mitt Romney. GETTY IMAGES

6 Just in time for spring break: Air Canada's machinist union is either going to strike or the airline will lock them out. Oh, all those spring-break vacations we ruined? Too bad, so sad. Your flight is cancelled. Please call our helpless desk and we'll continue to ignore you as usual as we experience temporary labour difficulties.

7 Bieber Watch: Justin Bieber and I both have a birthday in the first week of March. To celebrate, he bought himself a $10-million Hollywood mansion, only slightly used by Ashton Kutcher. I bought myself a latte. It went down smooth. Even though he's now a man, he still has the voice of a boy. I wonder if that's why he called his signature fragrance "Someday."

Solar storm could flex its muscles yet

NASA/THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Lucky planet

Storm gets off to benign start

One of the strongest solar storms in years engulfed Earth early Thursday, but scientists say the planet may have lucked out.

Hours after the storm arrived, officials said there were no reports of problems with power grids, satellites or other technologies that are often disrupted by solar storms. But that could still change. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Disruptions

- The storm is part of the sun's normal 11-year cycle, which is supposed to reach a peak next year. Solar storms don't harm people, but they do disrupt technology. During the last peak around 2002, experts learned that GPS was vulnerable to solar outbursts.
- Because new technology has flourished since then, scientists could discover some new systems are also at risk, said the director of the Center for Integrated Space Weather Modeling at Boston University.

Auroras

Earth dealt a good solar storm, this year

The storm could shake the planet's magnetic field in ways that could disrupt technology but also spread colourful Northern Lights.

Forecasters can predict the speed a solar storm travels and its strength, but the north-south orientation is the wild card. And this time, Earth got dealt a good card with a northern orientation.

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Scientist says

"It could flip-flop and we could end up with the strength of the storm still to come."

Not even Eddie Murphy's charisma can save this lead-footed film. HANDOUT

This silence isn't golden

Reel Guys

RICHARD CROUSE AND MARK BRESLIN

A Thousand Words.

Eddie Murphy's spiritual comedy needs some divine intervention

Richard: Mark, A Thousand Words is billed as a comedy but I see it as something else entirely. I see it as a tragedy — a tragic waste of Eddie Murphy's talent.

He's in virtually every scene but his wide-eyed mugging for the camera — there hasn't been this mugging on screen since the first Death Wish movie (only movie geeks will get that joke) — isn't funny, it's just annoying.

What did you think?

Mark: The movie isn't funny, period.

It has a lead foot and a tin ear. It felt like a middle period Jim Carrey movie like Liar, Liar or Yes Man, in which the main character has a supernaturally imposed rule that the comic has to follow that leads to some kind of enlightenment or personal growth.

Murphy's imposed silence in the movie robs him of his greatest gift — the gift of gab. So all he can do is pop his eyeballs and mime his lines. But, Richard, if the movie is this bad, why did it hold my interest?

RC: It didn't hold mine, but I would guess that you were responding to Murphy's charisma.

Even in terrible movies it's hard to take your eyes off him.

Although I have to say that I found this such an unpleasant movie-going experience that the loud fire alarm that rang intermittently in the theatre during the film was a welcome relief to what was happening on screen.

At least the fire alarm had some element of urgency to it, unlike the film, which seemed to think that allowing Murphy to pull faces at the camera for 90 minutes was enough to flesh out the story.

MB: Maybe it was just relief that he didn't wear the fat suit, or the glossy art direction, or the satirical pokes at pop spirituality.

It has one good scene, where he "speaks" by using the prerecorded voice in various kids' toys.

But the abrupt turn of mood in the last third of the movie, changing from tepid comedy to outright mawkish sentimentalism made me squirm — big time.

Sorry, but I don't need a lesson in family values from a guy whose track record on Hollywood Boulevard speaks for itself.

RC: Ha!

Synopsis

Teaming up with Norbet director Brian Robins again, Eddie Murphy plays Jack McCall, a fast talking literary agent who double-crosses new age guru Dr. Sinja (Cliff Curtis) on a book deal. Soon after, a magical Bodhi tree erupts through the ground in Jack's backyard. The tree will shed one leaf for every word McCall says, and after one thousand leaves have fallen, the true nature of the tree's curse will be revealed.

- Mark ●●●●●

I can sum up my thoughts on A Thousand Words in far less than a thousand words: "Don't go. Save your money." You?

Jeff, Who Lives at Home opens next Friday. HANDOUT

No more Mr. Nice Guy

Comedy. Affable Jason Segel, star of Jeff, Who Lives at Home, dishes on the things he dislikes — and cats are on his hit list

NED EHRBAR
Metro World News in Hollywood

Jason Segel has cemented his reputation as Hollywood's reigning Nice Guy, and with his latest film, Jeff, Who Lives at Home, he takes that image even further, playing an unyieldingly optimistic loser living in his mother's basement who sees the good in everyone.

But there has to be something that makes Segel angry. As it turns out, he's not such a big fan of cats.

Your character in this is remarkably positive and open to life.

Yeah, he's a special guy. He's a watcher, and he's taking things in. He really does have an undaunted confidence that there is a purpose to his life, and that's a pretty courageous thing to believe. I think ultimately he doesn't know how to make sense of a terrible tragedy — his father died when he was young, and he just believes that there must be some reason for that.

In less careful hands, these could be pretty laughable, demeaned characters.

I think the goal was to have the tone of life. We weren't trying for broad comedy, we weren't trying for dark comedy, we were just trying for honesty. And the Duplass Brothers demand honesty, and that's what made me want to work with them. They roll the camera and

On The Muppets

It's been announced that a Muppets sequel is in the works. But this project won't involve Jason Segel.

- "I worked very hard on this for half a decade. I just wanted a little Muppet break for a minute. Someday I may come back and do something, but I felt like I did what I set out to do, and now I'd like to do some more human-related projects," says Segel.

As for the fact that The Muppets received no Golden Globe nominations and only two best song nominations at the Oscars, Segel has this to say: "We're living in Cuckoosville, and I'm very lucky to be successful, but it's not the kind of stuff I get worked up about. As I've gotten older, the things I care about have really narrowed, and it's like my friends and my family. It's not awards season."

they point it at you, and they don't say much. They'll let it roll for 40 minutes, and what sort of clicks in your mind is, "Well, I guess I'm supposed to do acting right now. They're not going to say cut. I claim to be an actor, I better do it."

We've never really seen you get pissed off about anything, but there must be something that pisses you off.

Yeah. When someone's rude to service staff, I get furious. That could just as easily be you. Who the f— are you to tell a waiter to hurry up? I hate it. That's my big one.

If you didn't have an answer,

I was going to ask you to say awful things about kittens.

Anyone who would say, "I don't have anything [that I hate]" is a liar. I am not a big fan of cats. I'm going to be controversial. I think they're entitled little bastards. You come home and a dog greets you at the door and is so happy to see you. A cat is just laying on your bed, has just done nothing all day, like, "Oh, hello..."

You have nearly 1 million Twitter followers. How do you wrap your mind around that?

I never say anything political or controversial. I tweet about food or me in a funny outfit. I think it's remarkable you say something like, "Sandwiches are better than burritos" and hundreds of thousands of people have an opinion; like they're ready to fight for it. "You don't like burritos? F— you!" I think it's hilarious.

Quoted

"What we did was we shot the end of the film first, when everything was messed up and destroyed and mucky..."

"Then we shot some interiors and we went to a couple of other locations while this poor production team, who were on their knees by the end of it — after rebuilding a set three times that had been previously flooded — they built it in two days and we were able to shoot the rest of the film. It was nuts."

Emily Blunt, actress
Blunt on shooting Salmon Fishing in the Yarnies during a relentless deluge in the highlands of Morocco's Atlas mountains washed out the set three times.

The Hunger Games opens on March 23. HANDOUT

The Hunger Games screenwriter talks about appeasing fans

Action. Simon Beaufoy feels the pressure of adapting a bestselling series of books into what could be a major movie franchise

NED EHRBAR
Metro World News in Hollywood

While the release of The Hunger Games is still more than two weeks away, Academy Award-winning screenwriter Simon Beaufoy is already hard at work on the followup. In fact, he tells Metro, he's just turned in the first draft of his adaptation of Catching Fire to novelist and series creator Suzanne Collins. That's got to make a guy a little nervous.

"I think she's reading it possibly right now, the first draft. Could well be today," he says of Collins, whose own background has been helpful in the scripting process.

"Because Suzanne has been a film writer and a TV writer, funnily enough she's already done a lot of adapting for me. They'll cut my wage if you say that."

Beaufoy is no stranger to adaptation, with the Oscar-winning Slumdog Millionaire, 127 Hours and the upcoming Salmon Fishing in the Yemen among his credits.

But taking on an installment of the hugely successful Hunger Games series was still daunting.

"With this one, I had to be a lot more faithful also because there's a fan base who are more than usually keen that you get it absolutely right," he says.

"The Hunger Games' fan base are passionate beyond anything I've ever come across, and I would fear for my life [if I get it wrong]. If I do too free an adaptation of that, I shall get firebombed. So I'm being very careful of that."

Of course, not everything from a book can make it into a movie, so not every bit of Catching Fire will make it to the screen, which Beaufoy freely admits.

But he's cagey when it comes to details. "[Collins] just knows her audience brilliantly, and she'll say 'That bit you just can't cut out because they'll all go crazy.' And other bits she'll go, 'This is fine that you've changed this,'" Beaufoy explains.

"But she really knows her readers. And because she's been in the film world, she understands about adapting, that things have to go and things have to change."

Horror

Silent House

Directors. Chris Kentis, Laura Lau

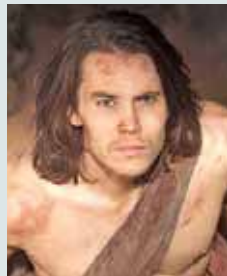

Stars. Elizabeth Olsen, Adam Trese, Eric Sheffer Stevens

It's an interesting idea, you have to give it that. Based on the Uruguayan film La Casa Muda, Silent House follows a moody young woman (Elizabeth Olsen) as she's haunted and terrorized in a country house she, her father and her uncle are renovating before selling. And when I say "follows," I mean it literally: Silent House is presented in real time, as one continuous take, which can be interesting except for those moments when Olsen has to wait while the cameraman gets out of her way on the stairs.

The film uses its main device to good effect in for the first half of its 88-minute running time, but as the tension continues to ratchet up and clues about what exactly the hell is going on here emerge, the whole thing starts to unravel.

Action

John Carter

Director. Andrew Stanton

Stars. Taylor Kitsch, Lynn Collins, Willem Dafoe, Samantha Morton

It turns out there is life on Mars — and John Carter aims to save it.

Based on the novels by Edgar Rice Burroughs, the film follows Carter (Canada's own Taylor Kitsch), a former American Civil War captain who now spends his days searching for gold. But when Carter happens upon a special medallion that transports him to Barsoom (the planet we Earthlings call Mars), Carter is forced to fight again. On Barsoom, Carter discovers he can jump vast distances — a trick that interests the Tharks, the native inhabitants of the planet who take Carter prisoner. After escaping, Carter tries to make his way home but finds himself drawn into the fight for the future of Barsoom.

There are some impressive graphics, but the film lacks a coherent storyline, runs about 30 minutes too long and, despite the epic battle scenes, fails to capture your attention.

REGAN REID

Drama

Coriolanus

Director. Ralph Fiennes

Stars. Ralph Fiennes, Gerard Butler, Brian Cox

Ralph Fiennes' ferocious adaptation of one of Shakespeare's least-known plays has been calibrated for present-tense relevance: the director casts himself as the resentful, battle-scarred general of a war-torn nation battling media spin and the machinations of duplicitous politicians.

Expert support from Jessica Chastain, Vanessa Redgrave and, surprisingly, Gerard Butler — as Fiennes' equally combat-savvy nemesis — gives the film dramatic heft to balance its scattered action flick moves.

ADAM NAYMAN

Drama

Snows of Kilimanjaro

Director. Robert Guédiguian

Stars. Jean-Pierre Darroussin and Ariane Ascaride

Leftist union leader Michel is laid off at a Marseilles shipyard. Used to power, he now delivers newspapers, bolstered by his loving family. They surprise him with a trip to Africa, but intruders break in, beat him and take the money. Shocking revelations emerge, an arrest is made and two children are left to fend for themselves. It's an unpretentious allegory of forgiveness, compassion and equality based on Victor Hugo's poem How Good are the Poor? that doesn't impose answers.

ANNE BRODIE

Drama

Pariah

Director. Dee Rees

Stars. Adepero Oduye, Kim Wayans, Aasha Davis

From first time director Dee Rees and executive producer Spike Lee comes Pariah, a Sundance hit unfairly dismissed by some critics as Precious Lite.

Both movies are set in inner city African American communities, and both feature a central character fighting to find her place, but there the similarities end. Pariah is the story of Alike (Adepero Oduye), a 17-year-old struggling to assert her sexuality to her god-fearing mother and family.

It's a simple but vibrant movie, buoyed by authentic, heartfelt performances — particularly from Oduye, Kim Wayans as the mother and streetwise friend Sahra Mellesse — and, unlike Precious, blessed with an uplifting ending.

RICHARD CROUSE

In brief

Bully movie slapped with 'R' rating

Lee Hirsch had a violent, nightmare middle school experience. Every day multiple students would punch him to the point where his arms were no longer black and blue — they were just plain yellow.

Now Hirsch, a successful Sundance and Emmy-award winning director, is revisiting those painful days once more. His new documentary Bully follows the stories of five children and their families, showing how bullying has affected their lives. But, even though it was intended to be an educational tool, Bully is garnering controversy. After being submitted to the MPAA, the governing body that issues American Film Ratings, the board decided to slap the film with an R-rating because the obscene language was used multiple times. This means anyone under 17, the vast majority of the people who Hirsch hopes to affect with this film, will need an adult to come with them to see the film.

"I was surprised and devastated," Hirsch said. "This is a film that has been vetted by multiple educational organizations.... This film was not designed to be an R-Rated movie, and to have it rated R is clearly an obstacle."

Over 200,000 people have signed an online petition to change the rating.

Becoming Sarah Palin

TV movie. To step into the hockey jersey of the 2008 vice presidential candidate in the HBO film Game Change, actress Julianne Moore's homework included voice lessons and watching reality TV

AMBER RAY

Metro World News in New York

Game Change, the bestselling account of the 2008 presidential election by Mark Halperin and John Heilemann, only dedicates a portion of its chapters to John McCain's selection of Sarah Palin as his running mate.

But that polarizing moment is the focus of the HBO film Game Change, which stars Ed Harris as McCain, Woody Harrelson as his campaign strategist Steve Schmidt, and Julianne Moore as their "star" — the then-relatively unknown but charismatic Palin.

Moore captures the likeness of the former Alaska governor with uncanny precision — without devolving into a Saturday Night Live parody.

"It's a daunting task to play somebody who is not only a living figure, but a hugely well-known one," Moore says. "So, for me, the most important thing was accuracy."

Momma bear moment

"I chased down an ice skating coach once because they messed up the music to my daughter's program."

Julianne Moore on her own Sarah Palin-like "momma bear" moment

The actress put a "tremendous amount of research" into understanding America's most famous hockey mom, including, she says, reading "everything I could get my hands on."

At the top of her list was Palin's memoir, Going Rogue: An American Life, as well as Blind Allegiance to Sarah Palin: A Memoir of Our Tumultuous Years by Palin aide Frank Bailey, and, of course, Game Change.

Moore also watched hours of footage of Palin on the campaign trail, and even had video on hand while filming scenes to nail the candidate's physicality.

"We would sometimes have the computer there when I was doing the debates to watch things very precisely, like beat by beat, to get the gesture just right," Moore explains.

But the first thing the actress did was hire a vocal coach.

"(Palin) has an incredibly idiosyncratic way of speaking," Moore says, "and I really felt I needed to capture that. We are all very familiar with her and with those sort of iconic moments. I mean, it was just four years ago."

Game Change, starring Ed Harris and Julianne Moore, premieres Saturday at 9 p.m. ET on HBO. PHILLIP V. CARUSO

Studying Palin

"One of the things that I watched was her reality show, Sarah Palin's Alaska, to kind of familiarize myself with the family and with her family dynamic. And, you know, that was, frankly, adorable. I mean, she's really a very caring, very involved parent."

Sound Check

What Apple should do now

SOUND CHECK
Alan Cross
scene@metronews.ca

Dear Tim Cook:

As the guy entrusted with guiding Apple after Steve's ascent to an insanely greater plane of existence, I sympathize with the burden on your shoulders. What can you do to keep Apple on this upward trajectory? If I may make a suggestion, I have an idea about music in my car.

Having looked virtually at all the new in-dash infotainment systems, I've come to the conclusion that none of them are as good as they should be. Yes, things have improved over the last couple of years, but there's still a lot of work to be done.

Every time I plug my iPhone into my car, I'm frustrated that the display in my dash doesn't look or operate anything like the display on my phone. I can browse for songs and playlists but there's nothing in the interface that allows me to find audio books or podcasts.

There's voice control, but compared to what Siri can do, it sucks. There's nothing that reads incoming texts to me. Nothing in my iPhone interfaces with the brains of the car, either, Tim. The trip computer doesn't talk to the phone and the two GPS systems might as well be operating on different planets.

In other words, just like the old days of the personal computer. Remember the mess in the '80s? DOS. Windows. Mac. BeOS. Commodore. Amiga. It was an OS nightmare with each system requiring its own learning curve. It wasn't until we settled down into a standardized world — mostly Windows, of course — that the masses began to get comfortable with computers.

This is the chaos we see in cars today. Ford's SYNC, Kia's UVO and Entune from Toyota are all based on a Microsoft platform called Windows CE-based Windows Automotive Embedded System 7 — but all look and work differently. Others are working with QNX, a company owned by Research In Motion. None look like the other.

What we need, Tim, is a good ol' Window vs. Mac battle in the car. Better user interfaces. Standard communications protocols. More than 20 per cent of smartphone users already plug their devices into their dashboards and that rate of adoption is skyrocketing. Talk about a market waiting to be exploited!

But what's this about you starting to hire automotive engineers? That's the rumour, anyway. Could it be you've already thought this through?

Your friend, Alan

Finally finding commercial fame

Pop trio fun finding success. Super Bowl ad and hitmaker Jeff Bhasker credited with putting them over Jeff Bhasker, the hitmaker behind acts like Kanye West, Beyoncé, Alicia Keys and Jay-Z, had only been interested in producing for seasoned acts.

So when he was approached by pop-rock trio fun. to produce its sophomore album, there was little excitement.

"I figured I'd just meet with them for 15 minutes and then I don't have to hear them bugging me anymore," admitted Bhasker, who had cancelled two previous meetings with the group.

Then he heard lead singer Nate Ruess — who was admittedly "liquored up" — belt out the lyrics from the group's song We Are Young. Bhasker was so

Analysis

Taking a big step forward with sales

We Are Young features Janelle Monáe and is from the album Some Nights, which debuted at No. 3 on the Billboard 200 albums chart this week after selling 70,000 units, according to Nielsen SoundScan.

That's a far stretch from the group's debut Aim and Ignite, which peaked at No. 71 and has only sold 74,000 copies since its release in 2009.

Fun. is now on a North American tour that wraps up June 16 in New York City.

that the times that we've licensed the song, people have used ... (it) in a way that does the song a little bit of justice," Ruess added.

Bhasker says he's "lucky Nate was so persistent about wanting to work with me."

"This whole experience has opened me up to working with the new generation and the new, unknown artists of the world," added the producer, who has also worked with Drake, Lana Del Rey, Robin Thicke and Brandy.

Nights was recorded in three weeks and is a theatrical adventure of groovy tunes. Ruess sings about his family on several songs; and on the title track he sings: "My heart is breaking for my sister and the con that she called love, but when I look into my nephew's eyes, man you wouldn't believe the most amazing things that can come from some terrible nights."

impressed he immediately booked studio time to record the band's next album, and now We Are Young has become the group's breakout hit.

"I was really excited about working with Beyoncé ... (but working) with this indie band from Brooklyn turned out to be equally as exciting," Bhasker said.

Bhasker is not the only one excited about the band or its song, which has already reached the No. 3 spot on the Billboard Hot 100 chart.

We Are Young initially got a boost thanks to its cover on Fox's Glee, but its use in a Super Bowl commercial for the new Chevrolet Sonic helped it top the iTunes singles chart, and in a week it jumped 38 spots on the Billboard chart.

"What happened with the Super Bowl ad has been the theme for us recently," said guitarist Jack Antonoff. (Andrew Dost, who plays keyboard and other instruments, rounds out the trio).

to find success. Now that she's here though, she's making the most of her success in the spotlight

Estelle said she left the United Kingdom to pursue her career in America because performing R&B music back home was too tough.

"It's so (expletive) hard for British artists to be taken seriously as R&B artists," she said.

"It's frustrating," continued Estelle, who now lives in the United States. "I get a lot of (people saying), 'Yo Estelle, I can't sing R&B and be out here and make money. This is crazy.' And I'm looking at them like, 'I know. That's why I'm not there doing it.'"

Estelle's sound is a mix of rap, R&B, reggae and pop. She says British R&B singers have trouble performing R&B "because No. 1, you're not American."

But R&B music in Europe isn't quite the same as in America. Europe's R&B charts will feature pop acts like Jason Derulo and Flo Rida, whose songs don't appear on the U.S. R&B chart.

"The kids in the (U.K.) hood still know what R&B music is. They still know what real (R&B) is," she said.

Estelle released her debut, The 18th Day, in Europe in 2004, but she made her real splash on the music scene in 2008 with the monster hit American Boy, which won her a Grammy Award. The song featured Kanye West and is from her U.S. debut, "Shine," released on John Legend's label imprint, Home School Records.

Country youngster Hunter Hayes credits collaboration

Says a Canadian connection helped him. He's now one of the hottest country stars in the industry

Hunter Hayes was nervous before his first songwriting session with Canadian Gordie Sampson, but not because of Sampson's Grammy-certified pedigree or because Hayes had just recently become an ardent fan of his music.

No, Hayes was anxious because he simply didn't have any good ideas. Sure, the 20-year-old had a couple of musical concepts kicking around in his head — not uncommon considering the multitalented youngster played all 30 instruments on his major-label debut — but he had nothing lyrical, and nothing that could supply the bedrock of a new hit.

"I like to walk in with something, an idea, something I've got going on. But that day, I was just fresh out." Hayes recalled in an interview this week in Toronto.

"So I was really hoping somebody else would come to the table. And Gordie did."

Indeed, the Big Pond, N.S., songwriter — best-known for penning the Carrie Underwood smash Jesus, Take the Wheel — delivered, bringing Hayes the early career-defining hit he needed in the form of the buoyant country-pop ditty Storm Warning, co-written with hit-maker Michael Busbee.

And thus began Hayes' — ahem — whirlwind year.

The tune took its time snaking up the charts, seeing release last May but only reaching its peak in January. In between, Hayes opened for crossover country starlet Taylor Swift on a summer arena tour, launched his first solo trek, and introduced enough people to tunes from his solo record that it easily found its way to the U.S. Top 20 upon its October release. He's since earned a best new artist nomination at the Academy of Country Music Awards, which will be held April 1. So when he and his team went out for dinner with Swift prior to the start of their tour together, Hayes wasn't a star-struck industry newbie. Still, he wanted to benefit from the six-time Grammy winner's experience.

"It wasn't as much advice as it was getting to ... see how her mind works and see how she processes things," said Hayes, clad in a tight black sweater, his blond hair carefully dishevelled.

How disturbed should I be that my 3 year old uses the word "assassin" in casual conversation?

Ever wanted to see Hulk Hogan naked? Well, now, maybe you can.

The latest celebrity to have to deal with the leak of a purported personal sex tape? Hulk Hogan.

A video allegedly featuring the wrestling veteran and an unidentified woman — though not his ex-wife or his current wife — is reportedly being shopped around to adult film outlets, according to TMZ.

A lawyer for Hogan (whose real name is Terry Bollea) says his client is mortified.

"Terry Bollea is appalled at the unauthorized release of a secretly filmed video," attorney David Houston says.

"He neither approved of the filming nor the release of the same. It is clearly an outrageous invasion of privacy and breach of trust if it is genuine.

We will take all necessary steps to enforce both civil and criminal liability."

Sienna admits she's expecting

Sienna Miller has confirmed to Vogue UK that she's with child.

"I'm in my second trimester, so I'm I-can-talk-about-it pregnant, even though I'm under strict instructions not to say anything," the actress says. "I'm feeling fine. It's all progressing very nicely and it's very exciting." So why stay mum? Miller — who has been campaigning for privacy rights after being stalked by paparazzi and getting caught up in the News of the World phone-hacking scandal — says she doesn't want to contradict herself. "[Speaking about my pregnancy] would completely defeat the point of everything I've tried to achieve in the last eight years," she explains. METRO

Amanda and Josh secretly dating: Us Weekly

Despite claims last month that she's happily single, Amanda Seyfried has reportedly been dating Josh Hartnett since January, according to Us Weekly.

The pair were set up by a mutual friend, sources say, and for now the relationship has been fairly casual.

"Josh likes to keep things low-key, so they've just been hanging out," a source says. METRO

Jessica Simpson almost went on a bender while she was first preggo

Jessica Simpson says she found out she was pregnant thanks to some intuition right before a planned day of binge-drinking.

"We were going to have an all-day drinking binge," Simpson tells Elle magazine. "Going to ride our bikes, hang out, do naughty things. But I started feeling this overwhelming guilt. Why would I feel guilt at the idea of going out and having cocktails with my friends?"

Somehow she knew to take a pregnancy test, which obviously put the drinking marathon on hold.

"I'm a free-spirited girl, but giving up my scotch? My Macallan 18? That was hard for me," Simpson says of being pregnant. METRO

OUR TAKE ON THE WORLD OF CELEBRITIES

Does Will have a special friend?

Star magazine flames the fire on Will Smith sexuality rumours

THE WORD

Dorothy Robinson
scene@metronews.ca

Star magazine is throwing their tabloid hands in the air and are just going for it. This week's cover story isn't shocking for what they're writing about, but rather what they're implying.

In a screaming headline that proclaims Will & Jada's Divorce Secret: The Man Who Came Between Them! the magazine goes on to say that Duane Martin, Tisha Campbell-Martin's husband, and Will Smith are just way too close, going on vacations to Miami, Trinidad and Las Vegas together.

A "source" practically outs Smith: "Jada can't stand Will's relationship with Duane. She feels like Will flaunts it in her face, hanging out with him every day and taking him on exotic vacations while she's sitting home alone. Will and Jada's marriage is completely fractured, and it's only getting worse as Will spends more time away with Duane. I don't know how much longer they can live this way. It's only a matter of time until one of them makes the split official and files for divorce."

Of course, there have been whispers about both Will and Jada's sexuality for years, but no magazine has so blatantly gone there.

Unless, of course, I'm just totally reading into this and it's super hetero to go on a myriad of exotic vacations with just your best friend and not your wife?

Ashley Olsen says she's done with acting

While her younger sister, Elizabeth Olsen, is making a name for herself as an actress, former child star Ashley Olsen says she's done with on-camera work.

"[Mary-Kate and I] worked non-stop until we were 18. Then we decided to take a break and go to school — and that was when we decided to question whether we would carry on in entertainment," Ashley tells Elle UK.

"It was time to step behind the process. I wanted to work on other things. It doesn't mean I'm not interested in Hollywood, I like the way it operates and the people who are involved and the sense of possibility. But if I ever do get back in, it's not going to be as an actress."

There's no word if twin sister Mary-Kate feels the same way. METRO

Guinness Marinated Flank Steak Sandwiches with Grilled Onions and Boursin Cheese

Serve this dish as a meal with boiled potatoes and cabbage. MATTHEW MEAD/ THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Guinness Marinated Flank Steak Sandwiches. This creation uses grilled onions and creamy Boursin cheese

The depth of flavour from the Guinness marinade in this recipe is enhanced by a touch of rich herb and garlic cheese that melts on the hot steak and onions.

Freeze the cheese to make it easier to shave just enough on the top of the grilled steak and onions. This prevents too much cheese from being layered on.

Onions are easier to grill without falling apart if you skewer them before cooking. Cut an onion into 1-cm (1/2-inch) thick slices. Thread the centre of each onion with a bamboo skewer that has been soaked in water. Place the onion skewers on the cooking grates and turn once halfway through cooking.

1 Use paper towels to pat steak dry, then set it in a glass or stainless-steel container with a tight cover. Pour Guinness over steak. Set onion slices on top of steak, then cover container and refrigerate for 1 to 2 hours.

2 Heat a gas or charcoal grill to medium. Set cheese in freezer. Remove meat and onions from marinade and pat dry. Brush everything with a thin coat of olive oil, then season with salt and pepper. Place steak and onions on cooking grate over direct heat and sear for 6 to 8 minutes. Turn steak and onions and sear on second side for another 6 to 8 minutes. (Alternatively, you also can sear steak and onions on a stovetop grill or grill pan for several minutes per side, then finish cooking in a 180 C/350 F oven set on a rack over a sheet pan.)

3 Transfer steak and onions to a platter. Remove cheese from freezer and use a vegetable peeler or paring knife to shave Boursin on top of steak and onions. Cover with foil and set aside. Brush each slice of bread with oil, then grill them until lightly toasted, 1 to 2 minutes. Thinly slice steak, then assemble sandwiches with bread, steak and onions. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS/ ELIZABETH KARMEI, A GRILLING AND SOUTHERN FOODS EXPERT AND EXECUTIVE CHEF AT HILL COUNTRY BARBECUE MARKET RESTAURANTS IN NEW YORK AND WASHINGTON, AS WELL AS HILL

Peter Rockwell
@therealwineguy
peterrockwell@eastlink.ca

When I was in university my party favour of choice was tequila. Nobody drank it seriously back then so I would channel my inner Charlie Sheen by bumming a beer and throwing back a few shots in-between sips of brew.

It sure impressed the ladies. At least I think it did. I can't seem to remember. Either way, I still have an affinity for Mexico's native spirit though today I'm more into how it mixes in cocktails.

I love the margarita because it's so easy make (all you need is tequila, Triple Sec orange liqueur and some lime juice) and it's one cocktail that really allows the booze elements to show through the mix.

A tequila purist would insist on the use of a white style as they typically do south of the border. I still prefer a gold tequila's richer flavour in my margs.

Tequila Cazadores Reposado ($34.95 - $39.99) is made with 100 per cent Blue Agave (the plant from which all true tequila is born) and is aged in new barrels (rather than the usual used bourbon casks). This all helps to enhance the spirit's citrusy aroma and up-front vegetal/spice expression.

Bishop holds down the fort in home debut as Senators beat Rangers

Ben Bishop made 25 saves in his home debut with the Senators as Ottawa defeated the New York Rangers 4-1 Thursday night. Nick Foligno had the winner, while Zack Smith, Kyle Turris and Jason Spezza, with an empty-net goal, also scored for the Senators (36-25-8). Despite being outshot 9-3 in the second, the Senators managed to hold their own against the conference-leading Rangers (42-17-7) thanks to the play of Bishop, who was making just his second start with the Senators. Can Fish hook Manning?

Dolphins. Marino ready to offer up sales pitch on why QB should play in Miami

If Peyton Manning wants to talk about playing quarterback for the Miami Dolphins, Dan Marino would be thrilled to take his call.

And just in case, Marino has his sales pitch ready.

"There's great tradition there. We've had a couple off years but believe me, they'll be back," said Marino, the Hall of Famer who threw for 420 touchdowns and more than 61,000 yards in his Dolphins career. "It's a great franchise and they'll get it turned around."

Manning would almost certainly help in that quest, which largely started when Marino retired more than a decade ago.

From the moment the four-time MVP parted with the Indianapolis Colts on Wednesday, buzz about Manning has been growing in Miami — much of it fueled by the quarterback's arrival in South Florida shortly after becoming an NFL free agent for the first time. Manning insists he doesn't know what his next move will be, and Marino believes him.

"I think he fits with anybody," Marino said Thursday at a charity golf tournament. "He's one of the best to ever play the game at that position. So wherever he ends up playing, if he's healthy, which is going to be important to Peyton, I'm sure he wants to go out there and play at a high level. Wherever he plays, he'll be a huge impact for that team."

The Dolphins are believed to be one of the teams interested in adding Manning; Miami plays a game at Indianapolis next season. Washington, Arizona, Seattle, Denver and Kansas City also are likely to talk to him, along with the Jets — the team that shares a stadium with the Giants and Manning's two-time, Super Bowl-winning brother Eli. ESPN reported Thursday that Manning will make a decision within the next week and wants to stay in the AFC.

"I know he likes the weather here in Miami, but I have no idea where he's going to go," said wide receiver Pierre Garcon, who caught 10 touchdown passes from Manning in 2009 and 2010. "I could not tell you anything."

Added Reggie Wayne, who has been working out with Manning: "I don't know. Ask Peyton."

Manning's arrival in Miami doesn't necessarily mean the Dolphins are front-runners to get him. He owns a condo in Miami Beach, where television crews were staked out Thursday.

"He does like his privacy — and he's not going to have much of it until everyone finds out where he's going to go," Garcon said.

Why keep playing?

"He's a competitor. He loves the game. He loves winning," Garcon said. "You can never have enough Super Bowl rings. He wants to win and he wants to keep playing.... When you walk in a stadium with Peyton, you have at least a fighting chance to win a game."

After the Colts decided not to pick up Manning's $28 million bonus, team owner Jim Irsay ended months of speculation by releasing the 14-year veteran and longtime face of the franchise. Indianapolis likely will find Manning's replacement in April's draft, presumably Stanford's Andrew Luck. The Colts have the first overall pick.

Manning missed the entire 2011 season because of a damaged nerve that caused weakness in his right arm. He had the most recent of his multiple neck surgeries on Sept. 8.

MMA fighter hopes to stand out for skills, not gay porn past

The Ultimate Fighter Live. Dakota Cochrane will battle to be one of 16 members to live in the TUF house when reality TV show airs on FX Canada

Dakota Cochrane's controversial past is no secret in the MMA world.

Now the question becomes how his brief stint in gay porn will play out when the new season of The Ultimate Fighter Live debuts Friday night.

Dealing with his past is nothing new for Cochrane, so he's ready for anything, he says. "Of course it bothers me," he said this week on the set of the reality TV show, which airs on FX Canada. "But I can't do 'Not something I'd do again.'

"There's no way in hell I would redo it cause I know the repercussions that would come with it."

Dakota Cochrane, cast in 'The Ultimate Fighter Live,' on his brief stint acting in gay porn much about it. I've kind of dealt with it since college, since the first time it came out.

The 25-year-old Cochrane — who is not gay and has a one-year-old son with fiancée Lacey — says he earned nearly $80,000 from taping a series of gay videos while a college student at the University of Nebraska-Kearney, where he was a standout track athlete.

"I'm not going to try to hide it," he said. "If you type in on Google, it comes up pretty easy. It's just something I'm going to overcome."

While there has been plenty of buzz about his past, especially on MMA message boards, Cochrane is determined to stand out for his fighting abilities on the first season of the revamped show.

While Cochrane, who sports an 11-2 record, including an impressive victory over former WEC champion Jamie Varner, has been commended for being up front about his past, the issue will likely be a hot topic if the Nebraska native wins his first bout to become one of the 16 members to live in the TUF house.

♍ Virgo | Aug. 23 - Sept. 22.

Someone is desperate for you to tell them how much you appreciate them. The good news is you will find it easy to open up.

♎ Libra | Sept. 23 - Oct. 22.

It may look as if you are getting the poor end of a deal, but over the next few weeks you will more than make up for it.

♏ Scorpio | Oct. 23 - Nov. 21.

Do something meaningful, something that makes a difference. The possibilities are endless.

♐ Sagittarius | Nov. 22 - Dec. 21.

Some people will be a little bit demanding today and it seems you have little choice but to do as they say.

♑ Capricorn | Dec. 22 - Jan

20. This is one of the best times to get out and about and trade opinions with people.

♒ Aquarius | Jan. 21 - Feb

18. You will have to make sacrifices over the next two or three days but each and every one of them will be worth it.

♓ Pisces | Feb. 19 - March 20.

The Sun in your sign means there is no better time to find ways to improve yourself. SALLY BROMPTON
